

“The National Trust for Historic Preservation supports University UNITED’s effort to preserve the St. Paul Ford Building, an important component of St. Paul’s rich history, and a site that has been determined eligible for both local landmark listing and the National Register of Historic Places. We encourage the Minnesota Department of Administration to continue to maintain the building and to explore uses of the building that are compatible with the historic structure that would assure its long term viability.”

Royce A. Yeater, AIA
Midwest Director
National Trust for Historic Preservation
February 24, 2004